A message from Debbie:

Dear Friends,

At this time of year, and especially in lockdown, many of us will have been busy spring cleaning and having a good clear-out. I guess that some of us may be reluctant to let go of some things too. I am always surprised by how many things we collect over the years, but just because we have thrown things away or passed them on does not mean our memories have gone with them. In fact, some of them will have been sharpened because of it.

I wonder what the disciples remembered and what they collected during their time with Jesus? Did they have anything? I would have thought that at the time of the cross the disciples left everything they had. Maybe they tried to move on and maybe some of the disciples went back to the regularity of fishing, yet by the time of the resurrection and then Pentecost, there was a sharpening of meaning for them.

So in this season let us remember that the Holy Spirit is there to sharpen our memories of Jesus. We may not have physical mementoes of our faith but let us pray that through the Holy Spirit our faith may be deeper and broader than it has ever been before!

God bless.

Love, Debbie

This Sunday we would have been celebrating the Eden Project Lunch with a time of worship and then a time of games and craft whilst sharing lots of conversation and of course some delicious food. We'll have to put that on hold until another time BUT we thought we would have a virtual afternoon tea party on Saturday 6th June at 4pm instead, for those who have access to the internet. We will use Zoom to do this – those receiving this by email will receive a link and instructions on how to join - if you haven't already got Zoom then give Steve or Karen a call and we'll help you (as long as you have camera and microphone on your phone or computer). Please bring along your cup of tea or coffee (or any drink of your choice!) and your favourite thing to eat at afternoon tea. It would be good if you could have a piece of paper and pen or pencil handy too. We'll have some time to chat and have a short quiz and we'll finish with a prayer.
